

Cathcart Trinity & Cathcart UF
Prayer Letter – March 2022

Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. 1 COR 13:6

We worship the Father as we are commanded to because He is to be the first and only object of our worship, this is our primary reason for living. As we make our requests to God, we do so in complete confidence that He is a good God. We come with hearts full of thanks for who He is, all He has done and continues to do.

God has given this world all that is needed. Pray for those who do not have an equal share of His abundance. Pray for those who are living where there is no peace only unrest and chaos, for those who have witnessed atrocities we can only imagine. We especially pray for the people of the Ukraine, but also remember Yemen, Afghanistan and Nigeria. God we plead for your mercies to be seen.

We continue to pray for the ongoing recovery and rebuilding process following the devastating tsunami in Tonga. Thank God for those seeking to help.

We pray together for those in fear of persecution, danger and death. For those who stand up for justice, their faith or for others.

We ask God to draw near to those who have so little that they feel they have no alternative but to sell their children and for those crossing the seas in the hope to find a better life.

We bring before our God those who are seen as dispensable, unworthy, disposable, those not valued, those used for the use of others. Pray for those whose freedom is stolen, trafficked across the world as domestic or sex slaves. We pray again for Gods mercy.

Let's ask Christ to use us where He has placed us, to be vigilant to see those around us who need our love, friendship and practical care. Ask God to help us to look for opportunities where we can bless and serve others. Pray that we will have generous and loving hearts, to share with others where we have been blessed with much.

We pray for our fellowships in Cathcart and especially Cathcart UF as it faces change. Pray that we will all have the grace and wisdom as we seek His will in all things and trust in His leading.

Our Heavenly Father is faithful always, we confess that we are not. We come to Him as imperfect people but we are grateful for His loving kindness. Let us be continually thankful for all His gifts, especially Jesus and ask God to make us faithful witnesses for Him.
